Rev. B. St.John and wife had the pleasure of a visit from Rev. Geo. Partch and wife on their way to Shanghai, China, where they go as missionaries of the Presbyterian church. On Sunday the sixth of October, Mr. Partch gave a very interesting talk on China, her struggle for Democracy, and the need for the Gospel of Jesus before she can really be free. At the next meeting of the Red Cross Mrs. Partch told of her experiences as a physician and Red Cross worker during the Revolution of 1913, when the missionary compound was exposed to shell fire and bullets for several days, but fortunately escaped death or wounds, though many of the Chinese were killed and wounded. Mr. Partch is a nephew of Mr. St. John, and has been in mission work for the last 23 years.

The public schools have been closed this week, but if no cases of influenza develope, are expected to open next Monday. If so, the church will hold its usual services on Sunday, Sabbath school at 10 and preaching service at 11.

Peth and Arthur Peth, sons and Mrs. Martha A. James, a daughter. Oliver Dibble is the attorney for petitioners.

SUICIDE AT HALFMOON BAY

Alfred Freitas, aged 50 years and a native of Halfmoon Bay, committed suicide at his home in that place Wednesday morning. He was demented and in a moment of frenzie committed the rash act. He was well known in the county. He was single and a rancher. He leaves quite a large estate. The deceased was a nephew of the late Joseph Freitas, who at one time was a supervisor of the fourth township.

A FALSE STATEMENT NIPPED IN THE BUD

Communicated from Halfmoon bay

It is hard to get some men to play the game of politics fairly. A lie is a handy political weapon to play upon the sensitive prejudices of the people to turn them against a neighbor that has even grown gray in honorable public service to a community.

The political manipulators these days realize that people are highly sensitive in the matter of loyalty in the present war and, on the least alarm, are likely "to go up into the air," during which they are prone to be prompted to condemn some faithful public servant that would be strongly upheld in their more sober judgment. It has been employed in several cases in the recent primaries, necessitating the most instant and continuous activity on the part of the assailed to satisfy the excited public mind with the covert lie in the case.

Now comes the political lisping, assailing the patriotic motives of John Pitcher in his candidacy for the justice of the peace of the Fourth Township. His integrity cannot be impeached, for it has been set forth in too many instances to be believed. His ability cannot be questioned, for his decisions have stood every test and the estates that have had any action at his hands have been upheld in every instance by the higher probate court in Redwood City. His justice cannot be denied, for his Township is not racked in factional family strifes that follow asperse and unfair judgment of its magistrate. His progressiveness and loyalty to his town and township cannot be gainsaid, for he has always been found foremost among the "boosters" and among those that defend at much personal sacrifice of time and money to themselves. The local rights of the township. These have all been too often manifested by the grand old judge to be shadowed by a lie or a false imputation.

Something most recent, something the people have not had time to observe or understand must be played upon to tarnish before others the stainless life of years of public and private rectitude. "He is not buying war bonds, he is not buying war stamps," is whispered, with the hope or chance that the busy voter will not take the time and trouble to make sure of the judge's stand on these recent matters, even though a momentary inquiry will reveal the lie in such inferences, for Judge Pitcher has invested in every bond the U. S. Government has issued to carry on this war. He has subscribed the higheat limit, $1000, for the War Savings Stamps Bond. He is a member of the Red Cross and has subscribed liberally to the Red Cross drives in the community.

Besides these, every thought and act and utterance of his have had the ring of patriotism, upholding the high aims of his native land to Democratize the world. Born on historic American ground, the scene of Tippecanoe in Indiana, strengthened by a hardy boyhood in Missouri and inspired by long years of a fearless and busy manhood in the pioneer and modern life of his adopted state, California, he yields to no man in love of this land. Nor has any other section of it been able to woo him from the joy and contentment he has found for years and still finds in the beauty of hill and vale thta environs his township, and in the quiet, social life of Halfmoon Bay, where he dwells content and happy in being of service to his neighbors of the Fourth Township and most keenly conscious of the honor they have seen fit to place upon him in selecting him as their local magistrate for so many years.

John Pitcher has proved himself to be a patriotic American from head to foot, and has always stood a just and honest judge.

Respectfully,
AMERICUS.

Clark Rice during the week received a telegram from his son, Kenneth, stating that he had been appointed a second lieutenant in the aviation branch of the service and expected his commision in a few days. The young lieutenant has been transferred to the Gerstner field at Louisiana. Mr. Rice is naturally proud of the achievements of his young son.

Louis Genochio, W. T. Casey, Geo. Genochio and W. A. Carnduff returned yesterday from Alvarado where they had been hunting at the California Salf company's beds. They each returned with the limit, 25 each. There is a big flight of sprigs in that locality at present and hunting is good.

HALFMOON BAY BREEZES

The following are the coast side men whose numbers were among the first 100 drawn in Washington in the big draft lottery: 1697—Adolfo Marcucci, Halfmoon Bay; 6147—Montrose D. Meade, Farallone; 1907—Alessandro Carrara, Halfmoon Bay 4886—Pietro Lombardi, Rockaway Beach.

Preparations are made to make the Catholic Ladies' Fair in Halfmoon Bay a big success. The fair will take place in Halfmoon Bay, in Cunha hall, on October 25 and 26. On Friday evening there will be an elaborate entertainment given by local talent and out-of-town. A good orchestra will provide music for the dancing during the evening. On Saturday evening there will be auction and a raffle of the different donations for the fair.

Professor Hall, principal of the Halfmoon Bay grammar school, has organized his school into a Liberty Bond club and every member with the exception of the first and second grades are to promote the sale of Liberty Bonds, and the patriotic professor expects that every scholar in his school will sell bonds before the bond drive is over. Professor Hall has also arranged to have another war garden this year but on a larger scale than the one of last year. The war garden of last year was very successful and several dollars, which were received from its products, were donated to the Red Cross.

If our soldier boys deliberated as long doing their duty as some of our people at home hesitate over doing theirs, the victory would be doubtful. It is a sort of financial cowardice to hesitate to put your money in United States Government securities, and to deliberate over the wisdom and patriotism of the investment is to hesitate in supporting our soldiers.

A most delightful entertainment and farewell evening was given last Friday to Rev. Hunting and family on the eve of their departure for Danville. Due to the splendid and untiring energy of Mrs. J. W. Russell and the ladies of the Ladies Aid, a pretty little playlet, "Every Girl" was given and proved a pleasant surprise. Refreshments were served under the directions of Mrs. H. F. Ross were certainly enjoyed. Misses Lolita Ponce, Pauline and Dolly Simmons sang several songs and later Mrs. Wm. J. Debenedetti favored the audience with a beautiful song, sung in her rich delightful voice. The chief feature of the evening, although unknown to many was a purse presented to the pastor and his family from his little flock, containing many dollars as a parting gift.

Mrs. Belle Utter of San Francisco is visiting her sisters, Misses Rose and Annie Lewis, Mesdames Frank Bernardo and Jos. Fernandez this week.

The members of the Methodist Sunday school wish to tender a very hearty vote of thanks to Father Sorasio for the loan of a piano on the evening of the farewell social in the Methodist chuch. It was an invaluable asset to the evening's enjoyment.

The pupils of the grammar school are taking great interest in buying War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps. Mr. Hall's room has raised $337.25, Miss Azevedo's room raised $426.20, Miss Vallejo's room $279 and Miss Duer's room $135. The pupils are all doing their best. So far the pupils have raised $1177.45 worth of stamps.

SUES FOR DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL INJURIES

Valentine Cabana has brought an action in the superior court against F. W. Dyer to recover the sum of $588.65 for personal injuries received through the carelessness of defendant. Plaintiff was run down by an automobile driven by Dryer near South San Francisco on July 10, 1918 and severely injured. He asks for $88.65 for hospital dues and $500 for lost wages.

Harry Demartini, former cashier of the Bank of Italy at San Mateo, died at Camp Humphrey, Virginia, on October 16. He was a highly esteemed young man.

TOTAL REGISTRATION FOR THE COUNTY IS 12,757

According to figures given out by County Clerk Jos. H. Nash the total registration of voters for the November election is 12,757. Two years ago the registration was 13,061, a loss of 304. When it is considered that over 2000 drafted and enlisted men are away at the war the defection is very small. Then, too, hundreds have failed to register for many reasons. Also quite a few have gone to the different ship yards of the state who did not register before leaving.

The registration by parties follow:

Republican	8,440
Democratic	3,210
Socialist	248
Progressive	105
Prohibition	45
Decline to state	714
Total	12,757

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Carol Vernengo has brought an action in the superior court against his wife, F. Vernengo, for an interlocutory decree of divorce on the ground of desertion. The couple was married at Genoa, Italy, on June 19, 1909 and separated on March 28, 1916. There are three minor children as a result of the marriage but no community property. Plaintiff asks for the custody of the children.

THURLOW L. MURRAY PASSED AWAY EARLY WEDNESDAY

Thurlow L. Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh C. Murray of Beresford passed away at the Red Cross hospital at San Mateo early Wednesday morning following an illness of nine days from pneumonia.

Mr. Murray was one of the best known young men in the county and for the past two years was superintendent of the mosquito fleet of the Pulgas Abatement district which includes Redwood City, Menlo Park, Woodside, Portola and Ravenswood.

Thurlow Lemuel Murray was born about twenty-eight years ago and had lived in San Mateo county all his life. His father, a son of the late Mrs. Miranda E. Mills, owns a valuable ranch at Beresford and it was there that Thurlow Murray and his brother, Burleigh H. Murray, now in the navy, grew to manhood.

A few years ago Thurlow Murray married Miss Elna Hansen, member of one of the leading families of Belmont, and they have been making their home at 218 Fifth avenue in Hayward Park, San Mateo.

About two years ago Murray was appointed superintendent of the Las Pulgas Mosquito Abatement district, which extends from Belmont to the San Francisquito creek near Palo Alto, and his work in handling the mosquito problem brought most effective results. He was still engaged in this work a week ago when stricken with the fatal illness. Upon the enlistment of Noble M. Stover in the naval reserve this year, Murray succeeded him as superintendent of the Three Cities' Mosquito Abatement district.

He is survived by his widow, his baby son, his parents and brother. Mrs. Carrie Jury is his aunt.

CAPTAIN LLOYD THRUSH DIED AT CAMP MILLS

The pathetic death of Captain Lloyd Thrush at Camp Mills, Washington, D. C., last Monday caused profound sorrow here when the news became generally known. His mother, Mrs. James Ralston, had left for the east the Friday before but did not reach her son's bedside before he had passed away.

Lloyd Thrush was born at Omaha, Nebraska, twenty-six years ago. He entered the Sequoia Union High School in January, 1908, and left in June, 1910. He then entered Lowell High School in San Francisco and was graduated from that school the following year. After leaving high school, he took up journalistic work, and was employed as a reporter on the San Francisco Chronicle, Fresno Republican and papers in Los Angeles. He then went to Chicago and worked on newspapers there.

Last year he entered an officer's training camp in Illinois and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He was assigned to the intelligence department of the army and won rapid promotion. Only about two weeks ago he sent word to his mother that he had been commissioned a captain.

Besides his mother, Captain Thrush leaves a married sister and a brother living in the East.

JUDITH MONAHAN ESTATE APPRAISED AT $8,395

H. C. Tuchsen, inheritance tax appraiser of the estate of Judith Monahan, deceased, has filed his inventory and appraisement. The total value of the estate is placed at $8,395. It consists of personal property valued at $2000, a lot of land with improvements at Redwood City appraised at $1500 and a parcel of land with improvements on Santa Cruz avenue, Menlo Park appraised at $4895.

W. A. WESTINGTON AT SAN CARLOS

All of W. A. Westington's railroad friends are pleased and are extending their hearty congratulations upon his well deserved promotion as successor to W. J. Hardy as local freight agent in San Francisco, one of the most important positions of its kind on the Southern Pacific lines.

Mr. Westington is an all-around railroad man of wide experience, having served as telegrapher, train dispatcher and station agent at the smaller and largest stations on the coast division. Many people of Redwood and vicinity will recall how efficiently and courteously he served them while acting as relief agent in that city for several months after Mr. A. J. Elms was transferred to the cashiership at the Third Street ticket office some years ago. Mr. Westington was later appointed regular agent at Gilroy, from which he was promoted to the agency at Santa Cruz and from there he went to the important Drum Street station, San Francisco, from which he was transferred to his present place.

Mr. Westington has always been very popular with his associate employes and with the patrons of the company, and as he is still a young man a still brighter career awaits him in the railroad world.

REPUBLICAN LEADER BACKS HAYES' RECORD

Gillett Appeals to California to Return Congressman

Following is a telegram sent by the Hon. Frederick H. Gillett, minority leader of the house of representatives, to the chairman of the Republican state central committee, Raymond Benjamin, which is self-explanatory:

"Raymond Benjamin, Chairman of Republican State Central Committee, San Francisco, Cal.

"Mr. Fess, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, advises me that there is in California doubt as to the attitude of E. A. Hayes, member of congress from the eighth congressional district, in regard to the war. So far as this doubt exists it is probably caused by the fact that Mr. Hayes voted against the declaration of war and against the draft. I differed from him in both cases but I recognize that many men of both parties just as loyal to the United States as I am differed from me. In my opinion the conduct of a man since then is the true test of his loyalty. By that test Mr. Hayes' loyalty and patriotism are as true and unequivocal as that of any member of the house. He has consistently supported the war measures and his record is unimpeachable as an earnest advocate of the unflinching prosecution of the war. I should like to add that his position as senior minority member of the committee on banking and currency and prospective chairman of that great committee if the Republican win the next house give him remarkable influence and power; and his sound judgment, broad knowledge and force ful debate makes him one of the most useful and valuable members of the house.

(Signed)
FREDERICK H. GILLETT,
Minority leader, house of representatives.

NO PEACE WITH COMPLETE SURRENDER OF GERMANY

Governor William D. Stephens has put himself unalterably on record against any peace that does not come with the complete surrender of Germany. Speaking in one evening before two big patriotic rally meetings in San Francisco, the governor stirred up tremendous enthusiasm when he declared that talk of peace upon any other basis carries with it the taint of pro-German. Endorsing the administration with that loyal Americanism that in these times gives no place to thought of party, the Governor said:

"This is no time to talk peace. Germany is not asking peace, or begging peace—she is offering peace, and offering it with the insolent air of one who would confer a favor. Her sole purpose in seeking an armistice is that she may have a chance to recuperate, to build up her lines, to gather fresh troops, and when she is ready once again to strike with new fury at the brave boys who are offering their lives over there for the protection of our liberty and our homes.

"The only peace we shall consider must be a dictated peace, dictated by America and her allies. Not until the kaiser and his six sons have marched across No Man's Land to deliver their swords and their persons to the keeping and the mercy slacking of our determination to fight on and on.

"It is not given to all of us to fight in the trenches. But we can fight the Kaiser here at home. We can fight him with zeal, resolution and patriotism, with Liberty Bonds, dollars and service. We can do our share to make him pay for the wrongs he has heaped upon us, and when he does pay with the peace that he shall pray for, we shall know that the price is coined in the mint of justice."

AMERICAN WOMANHOOD IS INSPIRATION TO VICTORY

Judge Thomas J. Lennon, Presiding Justice of the Court of Appeal, First District, is rendering a splendid service to his country in making a series of talks all over the state, in aid of the Liberty Loan Drive.

He has just delivered an inspiring address before large audiences, in which he said in part:

"Many of our boys have already gone into the black, the vast wilderness of this year, a brave smile on their lips, a great brave hope in their hearts. Many more, aye, a million more, are preparing now to go. And all will willingly respond when comes the call, for they know, and you must know and teach and preach and proclaim, that it is a far, far nobler thing that the youth of this nation should, perchance, perish in its pride, than that the nation itself sholud fall a victim to its own complacency. Oh, yes, indeed, it is a far far better thing that the sweet womanhood of America should forsakenly suffer now, than that some day it should suffer the fate of Belgium's womanhood.

Oh, the sweet womanhood of America! Is there a man in all this throng who saw it, with the bloom and beauty of virtue upon its cheek, passing in review at the head of Liberty Loan paraces, who did not say unto himself that it was well worth the fighting for?"

Wear your old clothes and buy Liberty Bonds.

Liberty Bonds or German bondage.

"Come across" or the Kaiser will.

The soldiers give; you must lend.

Liberty Bonds or German taxes.

Buy over here to win over there.

Its billions for defense or billions for indemnity.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT

RESOLVED, That we, the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, do hereby express our approval of said Constitutional Amendment No. 2 (No. 10 on Ballot, entitled "Borough System Permanency") and we do hereby request the voters of the State of California, and the voters of the County of San Mateo particularly, to vote for, and in favor of the adoption of said Constitutional Amendment at the general election to be held throughout the State of California on November 5th, 1918.

RESOLVED, That the best interests of the County of San Mateo, of its people, its highways, its schools, its public buildings, its public charges and dependents, will be subserved by the adoption of said Constitutional Amendment.

VOTERS FAVORABLE TO RETAINING INCUMBENT BARG

Now that party politics are a thing of the past as to County elections, the voters directly vote for the man.

It is simply a question who is the best man for the office. If the incumbent of an office has performed the duties thereof in a proper and satisfactory manner, the American spirit of fair play and justice is favorable to his re-election. Why should there be a change? The public is interested in good service—not in individuals.

County Recorder Barg has been tried and has proven his ability and willingness to conduct the office well.

He has been painstaking and obliging and has brought the business of the office to a high standard of efficiency.

He should be retained by the voters at the November election.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES IS OUT FOR E. A. HAYES

The Los Angeles Times, formerly owned by the late Harrison Gray Otis, now controlled by his son-in-law Harry Chandler, is out for E. A. Hayes, candidate for re-election to congress in the eighth district, where Hugh S. Hersman is opposing him.

The Times editorially declares:

"Mr. Hayes has represented his district in congress ably and fearlessly. It would be difficult to write a higher enconium than his official record as a public servant."

RE-ELECT E. A. HAYES

Abraham Lincoln never gave better advice than when he said "Don't swap horses in the middle of the stream." For 14 years E. A. Hayes has represented this district in congress, and has represented it well. In his first election the nomination was thrust on him. Somebody had to come forward and beat a San Francisco labor Democrat. The job was so big that the politicians stood back. But after he had once been elected nearly every election saw some aspiring Republican anxious to unseat him. His success made them willing to try for an honor they had lacked courage to seek before. It is hard to like politicians. They are so much like wolves. Let a man, by efficient service, attain any eminence, and at once there is a pack at his heels ready to pull him down.

The West and particularly California, finds it hard to learn political wisdom. When New England, and particularly the South, has elected a man to Congress, and he shows ability and resourcefulness, they have the good sense to continue him at his post. Aspiring rivals are turned off in some other field. And what has been gained by such a policy? By the retention of capable men these sections are able to influence legislation to an extent out of all proportion to the electorial vote of their states. To a marked extent they influence the policy of the government. And the West looks at this performance in vain.

Mr. Hayes is ranking Republican of the Committee on Banking. There is plenty to do in that field. In case of a Republican victory he would be chairman of that committee. If his antagonist is chosen, even the Democrats will not put him at the head of so important a committee. A man goes to such a place by reason of seniority of service. Mr. Hayes has won such a position already. He is also a member of other important committees and familiar with their work.

The men elected to the next Congress will probably enact more important laws than have been passed since the formation of our government. The only period that can be compared with it is the period of Reconstruction after the Civil War, when enough blunders were committed to keep us in serious trouble for the next 20 years. Every man who had attained prominence during the awful days of the Civil War, felt that the country needed his service in Congress, and a good many untried men found places in the House of Representatives from 1864 to 1868, and helped to enact a great many poor laws. We dont want to repeat such blunders. Never has there been greater need for voters to exercise good judgment in the choice of their representatives in Congress. What is done in Congress in 1919 and 1920 will profoundly affect our political and economic fortunes for the next twenty years, and maybe for half a century. Mr. Hayes in education, in legislative experience, in the personal management of large affairs, is certainly better fitted for a seat in Congress than is his opponent.

But for his votes against war, and against the selective draft, both of which were mistakes, and in view of the flood of telegrams urging him to so vote from his constituents, natural ones, there would probably have bene no serious opposition to his re-election. His opponent asks election "to give President Wilson a genuine supporter in Congress." Such twaddle makes thinking men tired. But for the hearty support of Republicans President Wilson could not have carried any of his important war measures. His own party was never a unit on any of them. Julius Kahn, a Republican of San Francisco took the leadership in the Ways and Means Committee and passed important measures when Hon. Claude Kitchen, chairman, fell down; and has attained a popularity among patriotic men of the country second to that of no Democrat in Congress. When Congress was trifling with the submarine question in 1916, theMcLemore resolution keeping American travelers off belligerent ships would have been passed by the Democratic majority, but for a threat from Wilson that he would veto it. Many other illustrations can be given of failure of the Democratic majority to support the President elected both times by reason of Republican dissension, and the last time by Republican women to keep their boys out of war. How times have changed. Now the same women dont want to keep them out, but are willing and anxious to see them march on to Berlin and get the kaiser.

Throughout their history as a party Republicans have never hestiated to bolt when there seemed a good reason. Democrats have always encouraged them in so doing—not for love of independence—but for selfish party gain. They have never been able to beat the G. O. P. except when it has divided. They never practice bolting their own ticket—they leave that to their opponents. Since the outbreak of the war the Republicans in Congress have supported the President in his measures, and have not given this support under pressure from the chief executive as so many of his own party have done. It might be in order for the Democrats to point out what any California district has gained by electing a Democrat. If education, ability and faithfulness to the wishes of his constituents are qualities needed by a Congressman then it is our duty to re-elect E. A. Hayes.

Did A "Business" Dentist Fill Your Teeth?

If a low priced (?) "business" dentist filled your teeth, you will appreciate why the Dental measure should not pass.

Amendment No. 21 would permit "operators" with little experience from other States to practise in California without an examination.

The California Dental laws are very strict now, and the high standard must be maintained.

The present law admits all competent dentists.

Low priced incompetent dentistry is always the dearest in the end.

Keep out the riff-raff from other States.

CALIFORNIA AND CALIFORNIANS

BY GENERAL JOHN F. SHEEHAN

Summary of Presidential Elections in The State.

The first presidential election after California became a state of the Union was that of 1852. Millard Fillmore was then President, having succeeded to the chair on the death of Zachary Taylor, the hero of Palo Alto and other battles of the war with Mexico. Taylor was a Virginia Whig, and that party thought another Mexican veteran would keep it in power so General Winfield Scott was nominated. But the Democratic party came back, pitting aminor Mexican war soldier, Franklin Pierce of New Hampshire, against his old chief. The vote in California was: Pierce 39,655, Scott, 34,971, total 74,626.

1856—There were three national parties in this contest, the Republican having sprung into the ring. Buchanan and Breckinridge (Dem.) received 51,935 votes, Fillmore and Doelslox (Whig-American) 35,113, Fremont and Dayton (Rep.) 20,339, total 107,387. The total vote showed a gain in the state in four years of 32,761.

1860—Four candidates for president appeared to the voters at this election. John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky and "Jo" Lane of Oregon represented the Southern Democracy, slavery and threats of secession in the event of defeat. Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois and Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia, who were for the Union but did not threaten the status of slavery, although opposed to its extension. John Bell of Tennessee and Edward Everett of Massachusetts the "Pacifists" of that period, who favored peace at any price, yet styled the Union party; Abraham Lincoln of Illinois and Hanibal Hamlin of Maine, nominees of the Republicans. The vote: Lincoln 38,734; Douglas, 38,023; Breckenridge, 33,975; Bell, 9,136, total 119,868, a gain of 12,481 since 1856.

The Lincoln Republican ticket carried the State by a small plurality over the Douglas party—only 711 votes—while it was shown that the Anti-Union-Secession element was in a minority, the other three parties being all for the Union, having a combined majority over the Southern element of 51,918 votes. This was certainly discouraging to those like Gwin, who planned to join California with the Secession movement or create it into an independent republic.

1864—The Democrats pitted General Geo. B. McClellan, the unsuccessful General of the Union armies, new of New Jersey, and Geo. H. Pendleton, a pro-Southerner from Ohio, against Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, with the result: Lincoln, 62,053: McClellan, 43,839, total 105,892, a loss from 1860 of 13,976 votes caused by absentees in the army, north and south, and many declining to vote.

1968—Long before the convention assembled the Republicans of the country had decided upon the victorious General of the Union armies, U. S. Grant, and Schuyler Colfax of Indiana was nominated for Vice-President. The Democratic ticket was Horatio Seymour, governor of New York, and Franklin P. Blair of Missouri, a Union general. In California it was an intensely heated campaign, many Democrats betting their last dollar that Seymour would carry the state. The result almost justified their anticipation, the vote being: Grant, 54,588; Seymour, 54,069, total vote 108,657, a gain of only 2,765 votes over 1864.

1872—The election of 1872 was for presidential electors and congress men. It was "anything to beat Grant," and in order to accomplish this the Democrats did what the usually silent soldier candidate designated as "the wrong thing at the right time." They nominated the old arch-enemy of the Democratic party, the Freesoiler, the Abolitionist, and original "Simon-Pure" Republican, Horace Greely, editor of the once detested New York Tribune, to head their ticket, in the hope of drawing enough Republican votes to defeat the "Hero of Appotomattox." The brave old editor had changed his politics to the milk and water variety, was prepared to sacrifice the country to conciliate the South—the whilom fighting Horace Greely was a man of peace—at any price. The national tickets nominated were: Republican, Ulyssus S. Grant and Henry Wilson; Liberal Democrats, Horace Greely and B. Gratz Brown; Old Line Democrats, Chas. O'Connor, the eminent lawyer of New York, and John Adams, son of Charles Francis Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams, and great grandson of John Adams, the successor of Washington.

The old radical Union-Republican Attorney General, Frank M. Pixley, headed the Liberal Democratic ticket, and among others of his class who "went over" were Morris M. Estee, who had been Secretary of the Republican State Committee, Paschel Coggins, of the Sacramento Union, who received the nomination for congress, only to be defeated by Frank Page. And there were a few others who deserted the Republican party. The election in November proved a boomerang for Liberal Democrats. Greely was humiliatingly defeated in state and nation. Grant electors received 54,044; Greely, 40,718; O'Connor, 1,068, total, 95,826, a loss from 1868 of 12,831, thousands of Democrats refraining from viting.

1876—A Presidential election was on tapis for 1876, and a United States Senator was to be chosen to succeed Sargent, whose term would expire March 3, 1879. Rutherford B. Hayes (three times Governor of Ohio and a Civil War general) and Wm. A. Wheeler of New York were chosen by the Republicans as their standard bearers, and Samuel J. Tilden of New York and Thos. A. Hendricks of Indiana were Democratic candidates. The preference of California Republicans was for James G. Blaine, of Maine, but the state acquiesced in the choice of the National Convention. Samuel J. Tilden was Governor of New York, had prosecuted "Boss" Tweed, had "driven the rascals out," and had a nation-wide reputation, while Hayes was practically unknown outside of Ohio. The Hayes electors carried California by a majority of 2800. The Republican electors were: Gen. John F. Miller, Morris M. Estee, Duncan A. McKinlay, John B. Felton, John H. Jewett and H. J. Ostrander. The Democratic electors: Dr. J. Campbell Shorb, John S. Hager, Steuart M. Taylor, Joseph H. Budd, Barclay Henley and Frank Ganahl.

1880—A Presidential election was due in 1880, and the Democrats were early in the field, and its convention met in Oakland in May, called to order by A. J. Bryant. Samuel M. Wilson presided, and we find on the Committee on Platform Stephen M. White, a young attorney from Watsonville who had taken up his residence in Los Angeles, and who afterwards was to become the leader of the Democratic party in California and United States Senator. Another young attorney came to the front at this period, Dennis Spencer of Napa, who later figured prominently in the Democratic ranks. The convention expressed its preference for Allen G. Thurman of Ohio to be the standard bearer, General Hancock only receiving two votes. Presidential Electors named were: William T. Wallace, David S. Terry, J. Campbell Shorb, W. B. C. Brown, Barclay Hanley and R. F. Del Valle. Among the alternates were Thos. B. Bishop and Gen. Patrick F. Walsh.

W. W. Morrow was then chairman of the Republican State Committee, and among those taking prominent part in the State Convention were: Grove L. Johnson, Dr. Chester Rowell, A. D. Sharon, Creed Haymond, F. M. Pixley, C. Mason Kinne, Frank A. Leach, David McClure, John H. Dickenson, Paris Kilburn. A few years previously Johnson and Haymond were Democrats. The convention favored Newton Booth as nominee for Vice-President. Presidential electors were: John F. Miller, Henry Edgerton, Chas. N. Fox, W. W. McRalg, Thos. R. Bard and Claus Spreckels, but the latter declining John A. Bauer was named in his stead.

A Greenback Labor Party was also in the field with James B. Weaver of Iowa for President an dthere was also a Prohibition ticket.

For the first time since 1856 the Democrats carried California at a Presidential election, electing all but one of their electors, Wallace defeating Miller by 144 votes, but Henry Edgerton Republican, defeated Judge David S. Terry by 490 votes. Evidently the Broderick followers were not all dead, and the living "old guard" Democrats took this occasion to avenge the death of their beloved leader.

The Democrats had nominated for President, Winfield S. Hancock, a Major General in the Regular Army, and for Vice-President, Thos. D. English of Indiana. There were many ex-soldiers in California and they did not forget "The Superb" leader of the old Second Army Corps, the real hero of the battle of Gettysburg.

The Republicans named James A. Garfield of Ohio and Chester A. Arthur of New York. History tells how within about three months (June 2, 1881) after inauguration, President Garfield was shot at a railway station in Washington by the half-crazed Chas. J. Guiteau, how the President died September 19th, when Arthur became president, and how Guiteau was hanged for the crime the following year.

1884—One of the most exciting Presidential elections California has ever passed through was that of 1884. For eight years previous to this the California Republican party was set upon placing James G. Blaine of Maine in the White House. By the fall of '84 the "White Plumed Henry of Navarre" became an idol, and no one but Blaine was suggested in the Republican convention. The Democrats were looking for availability, and a new man in the political field who was swept like a whirlwind into the Governor's chair in New York was deemed to one to bring back into power the old party of Jefferson and Jackson. Grover Cleveland was his name.

The new census apportionment gave California six Representatives in Congress, which with two Senators, entitled the state to eight votes in the Electorial College.

The Republican Electors chosen were: Henry Edgerton, A. R. Conklin, J. D. Byers, J. B. Reddick, Chas. F. Reed, Horace Davis, M. H. Hecht and Dr. Chester Rowell. There were some new men in the political arena this year, among them Geo. A. Knight, a young lawyer orator from Humboldt, Wallace Pond of Yolo, Chas. Fred Crocker, son of the great railroad magnate, Adolph Spreckels, son of Claus Spreckels, the sugar capitalist; Thomas Flint from San Benito, son of ex-State Senator Dr. Flint, W. E. Dargie of the Oakland Tribune, and many of the old-timers were active.

The Democratic convention was presided over by Stephen M. White. That body repudiated the presidential aspirations of Justice Stephen J. Field, which caused bitterness in the party for many years thereafter, and voted Samuel J. Tilden as first choice and Arthur G. Thurman as second. The electors chosen were: Chas. Koehler, C. P. Berry, W. J. Tinnin, G. C. Goucher, John A. Stanley, George T. Marye, James T. Murphy and W. H. Webb. Others prominent in the campaign were Robert Tobin, Archibald Yell, Thos. F. Barry, W. A. Selkirk, Patrick Reddy, J. T. Harrington, Peter Hopkins, Wallace Leach, Thomas J. Clunie, Hugh M. Larue, J. W. Breckinridge (son of the old southern leader,) Dennis Spencer, M. F. Tarpey, Maurice Schmidt, A. B. Butler, L. J. Rose, Frank J. Sullivan, R. F. Del Valle and D. M. Delmas, besides the old regulars.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts was the nominee for president of the "Greenback-Labor-Anti-Monopoly Party," and the Prohibitionists endorsed Dr. R. H. McDonald of San Francisco for president.

At the November election the electors for James G. Blaine and John A. Logan of Illinois had 102,369 votes to 89,288 for Grover Cleveland of New York and Thos. A. Hendricks of Indiana, making a change of more than 13,000 votes in four years from Garfield to Blaine. The Democrats carried the nation for the first time since 1856, the result hinging on about one thousand votes in New York, by which Cleveland carried the state. The stalwart Republican Senator Conklin from New York helped to defeat his arch-enemy Blaine, and "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" did the rest.

SAN CARLOS ITEMS

The Fourth Liberty Loan Committee of San Carlos through the active and untiring efforts of the Chairman, Asa E. Hull have succeeded in putting San Carlos over the top, and they are so elated over their success that they have placed their honor flag in the most conspicious place in town on the post office building that all may read who run, whether it be down the state highway or down the Southern Pacific railroad track. It is not well to hide your light under a bushel in matters of this kind, as it may remind those who pass by this way, to go and do likewise when they reach home.

S. J. Fisher candidate for justice of the peace in the second township is some fisherman when it comes to fishing for votes, and he is proving just as successful when angling for the votes of the ladies as that of the men, and unless al lsigns fail he will more than double the handsome vote he received at the primaries when the November voting day rolls around. On account of the misfortune of losing one limb, Mr. Fisher may be a little unsteady on his one pin, but he has a well balanced mind which well fits him to deal out fair and impartial justice when he takes his place at the seat of justice after next election.

Our deputy county clerk for registration complains that the auburn and curley headed county clerk has inadvertently overlooked remitting the small allowance usually paid deputies for this work, and this regardless that our county clerk received thirty-five of the eighty-five registered voters here at the late primary. And while our deputy don't need the money, he would probably invest it in War Saving Stamps and lend this little mite to help lick the Kaiser and stamp out pro-Germanism in this country.

It is hard to determine yet whether any of the San Carlos people have been attacked by the "Spanish" influenza, "The Flu" or "Three-Day Fever" or whatever it is called but a few have been indisposed and confined to their homes as a precautionary measure. Among those who have been laid, or voluntarily laid themselves up for slight repairs are the Messrs. Jno. A. Boyd, Dranzy A. Jones, Paul C. DuPont, Frank Haydock, Miss Beatrice McDonald and little Marvyn Cowgill. Three Redwood City doctors, Chapin, Dykes and Gregory have attended the various patients. It has been the practice of the physicians to quarantine the patients and the members of the family who are needed to attend them away from the balance of the household. Messrs. Boyd and Jones have recovered sufficiently to attend to their business in San Francisco.

Philo S. Johnson, or Postscript Johnson as he is known by his friends, agent at Calistoga for the S. P. Co., came down for the week-end. Mrs. Johnson and Master Everet who have been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. Jones for several weeks returned home with Mr. Johnson Sunday evening.

It seems hardly probable for a "once ran" to come back and particularly when it was not possible for him to enter the recent primary and secure the nomination of his party by the popular vote of the people. So long as the present primary law robbed the popular candidate of his place on the ticket, and although we lose our money, it is very evident that William D. Stephens, the second favorite, by the good fortune of fate, removed his most formidable opponent, will succeed himself and remain our war governor.

Mrs. Lois W. Noe of Portland, Oregon, one of the Pacific Coast agents for the Geo. L. Shuman Co., publishers, was in town last Tuesday endeavoring to place "Our Wonder World," comprising a set of ten volumes in every home where there are children of school age. These books cover every line of endeavor, and the name, "Our Wonder World" is particularly applicable to books such as these which cover every subject, explicitly, completely and most interestingly, and they cannot help but interest and inspire every scholar-student, from the youngest to the oldest, to put forth every effort to acquire all the knowledge, and which is manifold, contained within the covers of these valuable and entertaining books. Mrs. Noe had no trouble in convincing School Trustee Cowgill of the value of these books for the use of his children in their homes both for primary and high school work, and in addition to selling him a set for the home she secured his promise to lend his support toward seeing that a set was procured for use in the city schools.

Mrs. C. M. Hammel whose new bungalow on Cypress avenue has just been completed by Contractor Hurlbut was down from San Francisco last Wednesday making all arrangements to move her furniture the first part of next week. Mrs. Hammel has been one of San Francisco's practical and successful business women for many years, and with her two sons now in Uncle Sam's service will be a valuable addition to our little city. Fred H. Drake, manager of th San Carlos and Hillsdale properties, deserves a great deal of credit for his ability to influence this class of people to buy and build their homes in our little city, as they are an honor and credit to any community. Since Mr. Drake took charge, which was just before war-times, when general conditions have been very unfavorable, he has done more to counteract the unfair knocks of the envious and jealous outside real estate agents of inferior localities, which cannot begin to compare with our delightful climate and the superior topographical features of this ideal locality, than any other man who has been connected with the properties since the town was first laid out twenty-five years ago.

Mrs. Ida Houghtailing for many years one of Berkeley's active and enthusiastic club and church workers is at the Cowgill's for a fortnight's visit. Mrs. Houghtailing has always been a great admirer of Stit Wilson the orator and politician, and has actively supported him in all of his campaigns both for mayor of the college town as well as at the time of his campaign for congress, holding a number of house parties at her home in his honor all of which were addressed by this noted orator and socialist while he was a candidate.

If everyone would begin to write their confession as Fremont Older of Bulletin-Call fame is trying to do we would all be forgiven and the millenium would soon be here. There would be no tainted dollars, the family skeletons would all be brought to light and we could do away with that expression about living in glass houses and throwing stones. Those associated with the Times-Gazette should all pick up their ears and listen, for fame may be knocking at your door. Fremont Older once set type on the Times-Gazette to the tune of Redwood City's Postmaster.

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

Doings at Peninsula Garden Spot As Told in Breezy Style By Our Reporters

The National Defenders' club at Menlo Park has been closed as a precautionary measure against Spanish influenza. The club will be much missed by the soldiers and also by the faithful workers among the women at Menlo Park. Among them are Mrs. Augustus Taylor, Mrs. Frederick McNear, Mrs. Charles McCormick, Mrs. Andrew Welch and Mrs. Le Roy Nickel.

The grammar school will open on Monday next. All the pupils are requested to attend. There is no fear of the prevailing epidemic. It is under control and parents need have no fear.

James P. Maloney, T. A. Casey and Edward Lawler sought the haunts of the ducks and geese at Los Banos on Wednesday, the opening of the hunting season. The party met with little success. The flight of birds from the north has not been made yet and ducks are not plentiful at that place. Then, too, there the large number of hunters in that locality had a tendency to drive the birds away. The party returned home on Thursday with only a half dozen widgeon.

The open air mass celebrated by Father Sullivan last Sunday on the spacious lawns of the Church of the Nativity was an inovation and was largely attended. An improvised altar was erected at the vestibule of the church. Here Father Sullivan celebrated the mass while the congregation stood or knelt on the lawn facing the edifice. Services will be held as usual in the church tomorrow. The parochial school will also open on Monday. The influenza epidemic has abated and the quarantine is to be lifted.

George Batchelder has sold four acres of land on Isabelle avenue at Atherton to John C. Altman. The price paid for the choice realty was $10,000. The property adjoins the home of Albert E. Schwabacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pond have planned to pas sthe winter in Menlo Park. They have leased their home on Scott street for the season.

A large number of friends and admirers of the late Father J. J. Harrington went to San Francisco to attend the funeral of the beloved priest last Monday. St. Mary's cathedral was crowded with friends of the deceased. Father Harrington was universally liked and esteemed throughout the Archdiocese, both by clergymen and laymen.

The drive for Liberty Bonds will close this evening. Mrs. John MacBain, who has charge of the drive in Menlo Park, reports that she has sold in the neighborhood of $50,000. She has worked diligently with the result that the quota will be oversubscribed. Mrs. MacBain will remain at the local postoffice until 6 o'clock this evening to sell bonds. Those who have not already subscribed should call on Mrs. MacBain and buy bonds. The purchase of bonds is the surest way to kill kaiserism.

THE HUMPHREY

"RADIANTFIRE"

A Wonderful Discovery in Gas Heating, Peculiarly Adapted to Our California Climate

"Radiantfire" is the modern open fireplace. It has the charm and fascination of the firelight, the same flood of radiant heat, without the dirt of smoke, firewood or ashes, and the danger from flying sparks.

NOISELESS AND ODORLESS

It lights quickly—can be turned down low—no deadening of the air.

Why not install one in that unused fireplace?

N. B.—We sell and install the Humphrey "Radiantfire." See demonstration in our Heating Department at headquarters.
